

Oxfordians Take the World Stage: Model United Nations 2026

Our students are making us proud! Representing the school with poise and excellence, our Oxfordians are currently serving as delegates at the Model United Nations (MUN). This premier co-curricular program is more than just a simulation; it is a launchpad for the next generation of informed global citizens and thoughtful leaders.

Where Theory Meets Diplomacy

The MUN experience takes learning beyond the four walls of the classroom. As delegates, our students step into the roles of international diplomats, representing diverse countries and interest groups. This year's participation in the MUN organized by Mar Ivanios College has allowed them to dive deep into urgent global challenges, including:

- Climate Change Action
- Human Rights Advocacy
- International Security & Policy
- Key Health Issues

Skills for a Lifetime

Through rigorous research, strategic planning, and spirited debate, our delegates are sharpening the skills that will define their future careers. The program challenges them to master:

- Analytical Reasoning: Dissecting complex international crises.
- Public Speaking: Delivering persuasive arguments under pressure.
- Quick Thinking: Negotiating in real-time to reach global consensus.

Nurturing Empathetic Leaders

At its heart, MUN is about empathy. By defending the perspectives of nations different from their own, our students build cultural sensitivity and a deep respect for multilateral cooperation. We are committed to nurturing learners who are not only academically elite but also socially aware and ready to lead in an interconnected world.

"From classroom prep to the final committee vote, the MUN journey is a transformative experience that builds the confidence to lead."
